9 Council Vacancies, 4 Hospital

County Nominations On Thursday, January 25

Notices have now been posted calling for the nomination of nine councillors for the new County of Vulcan No. 2 and four hospital representatives. Nominations for the councillors (one from each of the nine county divisions) and for the hospital representatives will be received at the County Office in Vulcan on Thursday, Jan. 25, from 3 to 4 p.m.

The following hospital representatives are to be chosen: One in Township 18 for the High River Municipal Hospital District; One in Ward 1 of the Vulcan Municipal Hospital District; two for the Little Bow Hospital District—one from that part of the county lying south of the Little Bow River and one from the area within the hospital district contained in the county south of the Little Bow river.

Nomination of candidates, their qualifications and the qualifications of persons entitled to vote, and the conduct of the election are the same as in previous municipal district elections and as set out in the Municipal District Act. The elections will be held on Thursday, Feb. 22.

The returning officer is Wm. G. Truesdel, of Champion.

Hospitals Not In Yet

The Municipal Hospital Districts of Vulcan and Little Bow (Carmangay) will not come under the county scheme until January, 1952, because of various technicalities in the hospital act.

When the two hospitals are included in the County of Vulcan it will complete the plan whereby municipal, school and hospital boundaries will be co-terminous with the three services all being administered by the one local government.

With parts of several school divisions, all with varying salary schedules, being absorbed into the new county a new salary schedule to cover all teachers employed by the County of Vulcan will likely be negotiated for next term. Meanwhile, all teachers remain at the same salary they were drawing from their various divisions prior to being absorbed by the county.

Bruce Ramsay, senior municipal inspector and official administrator of the new County of Vulcan, is being assisted in the administration of the county schools by C. M. Laverty, superintendent of schools for the Foothills Division. A school superintendent for the county schools will be appointed in due course. About 150 school rooms are included in the new county.

D. D. McQueen, for many years secretary-treasurer of the former Municipal District of Vulcan, has been appointed secretary-treasurer pro tem of the new county.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
Vulcan Advocate,
Sir:

The Alberta Tuberculosis Association will appreciate your pointing out to your readers the situation of the provincial Christmas Seal campaign, which at this point is $22,100 short of the 1950-51 goal of $170,000.

Vulcan and district have to date contributed about $2,250 towards their own local objective of $2,600. This is a commendable showing, but the shortage, together with similar shortages in all other Alberta communities, leaves our anti-tuberculosis work in a position that endangers our effectiveness.

With all the emphasis at my command I wish to say that the 1950-51 Christmas Seal sale MUST reach at least $170,000. Our regular budget for health education, vocational training and rehabilitation, X-ray surveys, tuberculin testing, nursing services, social services and welfare, research and Seal sale supplies will require $140,000, and at least $30,000 more is urgently needed to put X-ray equipment into still more hospitals for routine chest X-ray of patients.

The Vulcan Advocate has traditionally helped us consistently throughout our annual campaigns, and we earnestly hope you will place this appeal before your readers again in a prominent manner, in the interests of the public health of all Albertans.

Cordially yours,
C. H. Crooks, Pres.,
Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

Icy Road Said Cause of Crash

Accident at Little Bow Bridge Takes Life of Milo Man

An accident at the bridge across the Little Bow River, 13 miles west of Vulcan, at midnight last Thursday, Jan. 11, resulted in the instant death of David Roy Kiemle, age 30, of Milo. His wife, Dorothy, wandered country roads for seven hours before finding a farm house and suffered from shock and frostbite.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiemle were driving from Nanton to Vulcan when their car hit an icy patch on the hill leading to the bridge across the Little Bow. Out of control, the car went over the approach and overturned. Mr. Kiemle was pinned in the vehicle and killed instantly and his wife was knocked unconscious. After regaining consciousness she wandered in the dark for hours, missing a nearby farmhouse. It was 7:30 Friday morning before she found the H. I. Montgomery farmhouse, about a mile and a half from the scene of the crash.

Mr. Montgomery telephoned the R.C.M.P. and then went to the scene of the accident, while Mrs. Montgomery took care of Mrs.

Will Assist Fund For Equipment

Bowie, the president was in the chair, while Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. McMillan officiated at their first meeting as newly elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Correspondence dealt with a number of subjects, one of which was an appeal for a donation towards a fund for the purchase of a Metabolizer for the Vulcan Municipal hospital. After some discussion the sum of $25.00 was voted to be set aside towards such a fund, if one is started.

Mrs. N. Scotney was welcomed as a new member, and the program committee reported progress was being made on getting the new programs out.

A very interesting contest arranged by the hostess was won by Mrs. Walker Sr.

Serving of a delicious lunch by the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. McIntyre brought the pleasant afternoon to a close. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. McIntyre.

Keystone Class Donates to Missions

The January meeting of the Ladies' Keystone Missionary Class of the Church of Christ was held at the home of Mrs. F. Davis on January 4 with 11 members and two visitors present.

A feature of the meeting was a report given by Mrs. J. Haydamack on the sale of Christmas cards and calendars showing a total of $55.70 having been collected. Most of this money was donated to foreign missionary projects.

During the course of the meeting it was decided to send a box of old Christmas cards to a missionary station in India and also to send a scrap book filled with more of these cards to the Junior Red Cross Hospital in Calgary.

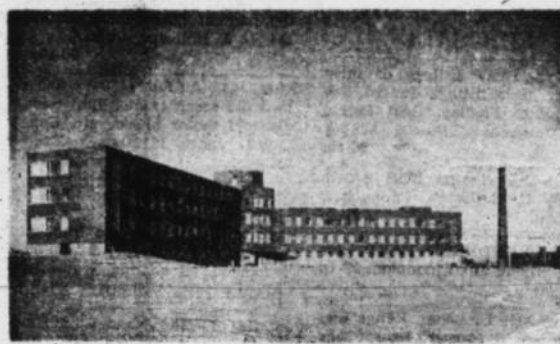

Mrs. Donald Smith was the speaker for the afternoon and gave a very interesting talk based on scriptural lines. Lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Dr. A. D. Tompkins, coroner, arrived with R.C.M.P. officers from Vulcan and Nanton and ordered Mrs. Kiemle taken to the Vulcan hospital, where she received treatment for shock and frostbite. After viewing the body and the scene of the crash, Coroner Dr. A. D. Tompkins decided that no inquest was necessary.

The couple have no children but Mr. Kiemle's father and brothers live at Milo, where the deceased man was employed as a provincial range rider. Mrs. Kiemle is a native of Nova Scotia and has no relatives in this province.

Funeral services for the accident victim, who was an army veteran, were held at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Vulcan, on Tuesday, Jan. 16, and were in charge of the Vulcan and Queenstown-Milo branches of the Canadian Legion. Urge Hard Surfacing of Monarch-Vulcan Highway

Ross Walker, president of the Vulcan and District Board of Trade, accompanied by Roy Walker and A. G. Scott, attended a conference of the joint Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Southern Alberta in Lethbridge Monday of this week.

Purpose of the gathering was presentation of a brief and discussion of the highway situation in Southern Alberta with Hon. Gordon E. Taylor of Drumheller, acting minister of public works.

Development of ten highway projects in the southern part of the province was urged, including the hard surfacing of No. 23 from Monarch to Vulcan and eventually on to Calgary.

The government's main purpose in building roads is to serve people, said Mr. Taylor, stressing that although the tourist trade is important the primary function of roads is to serve the people of the province. He said the government plans to hard surface at least 200 miles of highway every year and had spent over $20 million on roads, bridges and ferries this past year. Quality of roads is not being sacrificed for quantity said the minister and he stated that the government's policy will be more and more towards the building of wider roads.

Rebuild No. 24
Regrading of No. 24 highway was also requested, and regarding this matter, the Advocate was assured last week by Hon. Peter Dawson, M.L.A. for Little Bow, that No. 24 highway from the corner 12 miles north of Vulcan to Carleton Place would be rebuilt and re-gravelled this year.

ated to foreign missionary projects. During the course of the meeting it was decided to send a box of old Christmas cards to a missionary station in India and also to send a scrap book filled with more of these cards to the Junior Red Cross Hospital in Calgary.

Mrs. Donald Smith was the speaker for the afternoon and gave a very interesting talk based on scriptural lines. Lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

In Southern Alberta Since 1883

One of West's Earliest Pioneers, Richard N. Brodriek Passes

Richard N. Brodriek, one of Southern Alberta's best known pioneers, died in High River on Jan. 12 at the age of 90.

He was born in 1860, in County Cork, Ireland, and as a young man of 22 he heard the call of the west. He emigrated and came west as far as Brandon, Man., where he remained a year before the lure of construction days took him further west.

Mr. Brodriek arrived in Southern Alberta in the early spring of 1883 and established a pack train, which he operated for several years, making his way through little known mountain passes to keep up with the construction crews pushing westward.

It was in those years that he became one of Steele's Scouts, noted Indian fighters under Major Sam Steele of the old R.N.W.M.P., who took part in the North West Rebellion.

In 1886, Mr. Brodriek returned to Southern Alberta and took up farm land on the Little Bow River, four miles east of High River. He remained here until 1906 when he expanded his activities and began ranching at Buffalo Lake. In recent years he had made his home with his sons at High River and Vulcan.

Mr. Brodriek had served as a councillor on the Vulcan municipal council and for many years was a police magistrate in High River. He was active in the affairs of the Southern Alberta pioneers and Oldtimers Association and joined in their festivities as late as last year.

Predeceased by his wife in 1903, he is survived by two sons, Claude in Vulcan, and Dick in High River; two grandchildren, Richard and Dora, and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Anglican Church, High River, on Monday afternoon and interment was made in the High River cemetery.

Sydney Cockwill Dies, Aged 67

A resident of this district for 37 years, Sydney Cockwill, aged 67, passed away in Vulcan on Jan. 7 after a lengthy illness.

Born in England, he came to Canada in 1906 and lived in Ontario for three years. He moved to the High River district in 1919 and in 1920 married Ellen Maude Turner. The couple moved to the Vulcan district in 1923.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Sydney and William, and three daughters, Lillian (Mrs. R. Onstad), Alberta (Mrs. A. Oldfield) and Grace, all of Vulcan, and five grandchildren. Two brothers live in England.

Funeral services were held from St. Benedict's church, High River, on Jan. 19, with Rev. F. Vaughan, B.R.C. officiating. Pallbearers were W. Fleming, J. B. Marshall, R. E. Hill, R. Kinnear, G. McIrvine and J. K. McLean. Interment was made in the High River cemetery.

Claresholm Wins By 8-1 Score

The Vulcan Seniors took their second defeat of the season when they met the Claresholm Seniors in a Footings League fixture on the local ice on Thursday night, losing by a score of 8 to 1. The local squad were disorganized in the first period and could do little to stop the scoring rushes of the Claresholm sextet who poured in five goals before the end of the period.

The second period showed a much better brand of hockey, Vulcan having a slight edge on the play but could not penetrate Dodd's splendid net-minding. No goals were scored.

In the final frame play was again even and fast. Gorbous scored on a pass from Boutland early in the period and Claresholm registered three more tallies before the end of the period.

The Jenkins, Diebold, Teeters line scored six of Claresholm's 8 goals. Jenkins getting three, Diebold two and Olsen, Teeters, and Foster each getting one goal.

Line-ups:
CLARESHOLM: W. Dodd, M. Jenkins, B. Burton, J. Jenkins, J. Titus, D. Diebold, F. McDonald, A. Vasmataz, R. Foster, G. Olsen, R. Miller, A. McKee and M. Miller.

Wheat Grading

A new method of grading wheat grown in Western Canada was outlined by Dr. J. A. Anderson, in addressing the Alberta Wheat Pool convention held in Calgary. Dr. Anderson is chief chemist of the board of grain commissioners for Canada.

The plan proposed making protein a major factor in the grading of wheat now classed as 2 northern or higher, after removing the 10 per cent of the 2 grade that weighs less than 60 lbs to the bushel. Lower grades would be excluded because the protein in such wheats is damaged.

Dr. Anderson believes that the top quality wheat, averaging 60 per cent of the crop, can be bulked and graded on a protein basis into four grades, as given herewith:

No. 1 Canada western hard, with protein content over 14.5 per cent.

No. 1 Canada western medium hard, with protein content between 13.5 and 14.5 per cent.

No. 1 Canada western medium, with protein content between 12.5 and 13.5 per cent.

No. 1 Canada western soft with protein content under 12.5 per cent.

These new grades would replace the present grades of 1 hard, 1 northern and 2 northern wheats.

Dr. Anderson believes that a plan could be adopted to make a protein test of carlots of wheat at central points, such as Calgary and Edmonton, in Alberta, and the grain binned at terminal elevators according to the grades established.

For many, many years wheat growers in the prairie regions of the west have been agitating for protein gradings of their wheat. The high protein wheat is produced principally in these regions. The grading however, has been on the basis of appearance. Thus farmers who produced wheat with a protein content of 17 per cent frequently got no more for their product than farmers whose wheat contained only 11 per cent protein.

While the proposed grading by protein content will likely be to the disadvantage of growers on irrigated farms, where such content is usually low, we think in justice to the producers of the higher quality wheat, the scheme is worthy of a trial.

Free and Otherwise

Wherever one stands on this peculiar globe, a vote is a funny thing.

Take Canada, for instance. If a man hasn't got a vote, he wants one. If you don't believe that, just go to a polling booth at election time and hear the squawks of people who want to vote on a money by-law and find they haven't a ballot because they are not property owners.

If he has got a vote, he's very proud of it, but a lot of the time he keeps it in mothballs. That's funny, too, because, although the right to vote is a reasonably permanent possession, an unused vote is about as valuable as a ticket to last week's show.

Now, take a vote in the Allied sector of Berlin. There it has a strange and shining lustre. A few weeks ago, the Communists staged a violent campaign against participation in voting for a new Berlin house of deputies. The anti-Communists, armed with the free and secret vote, burnished to a brightness unseen in our part of the world, cocked a super-snook at the Marxists; 1,504,414 of 1,664,091 eligible Berlin voters—90.4 per cent. of them—took advantage of their ballot.

A vote in Roumania is quite unlike a Berlin vote. While the West Berliners were flexing their muscles, the Roumanians, too were voting. Under the gimlet eye of the secret police and Russian troops, they gave rubber-stamp approval to the only people they could vote for—the Communist candidates.

In Hungary, voting could be construed as a jolly affair. Cultural brigades dash around ensuring a husky poll by visiting every house and calling upon the tenants to vote with the aid of comic songs and witty poems. Their version of the Canadian "Vote as you like, but vote!" must be "Vote as you like, but laugh!"

Yes, it's strange indeed. In some countries, where there is no choice, the voters are practically forced to vote. In others, where there is a choice—and with that choice, responsibility—the eligible voters are conspicuous by their fewness. And, because the gift of free speech generally walks hand in hand with the free and secret ballot, the absentees on voting day

Notice of Preparation of Assessment Roll 1951

COUNTY OF VULCAN, No. 2

Notice is hereby given that the assessment of the previous year has been adopted under the provisions of the Assessment Act, and that the assessment roll of the said municipality has been duly prepared, and that if any person thinks that any property has been wrongfully assessed, or assessed too high, or too low or that his name or the name of any other person has been wrongfully entered upon or omitted from the roll, he may at any time prior to the 31st day of January notify the secretary-treasurer of the former M. D. of Vulcan No. 29 at Vulcan in writing of the particulars and grounds of his complaint.

Dated at Vulcan, Alta. this 4th day of January, 1951.

English 'As She Is Spoke'

The late George Bernard Shaw, who often got in wrong with his international meddling, but never for his use of his mother tongue, wanted desperately to do "something for the English language." Perhaps the great playwright was concerned with the gobbledegook that is written and sometimes even spoken by that segment of the English-speaking race which spends its time producing bureaucratic paragraphs and instructions to bedevil the mind and delight the legal profession.

There are many examples of gobbledegook extant, but one we ran across recently left us reeling with mental exhaustion. It is an extract from a British Government administrative order and it runs, believe it or not, like this:

"In the nuts (unground—other than groundnuts) order, the expression 'nuts' shall have reference to such nuts, other than groundnuts, as would, but for this amending order, not qualify as nuts (unground—other than groundnuts) by reason of their not being nuts (unground)."

Obviously Shaw and the author of this gem of nuttiness were aiming their English at different audiences.

To be honest, we have never made a down-deep study of the reasons for this baffling language. Maybe it has its uses in that it covers enough loopholes to make an astute mind search for another one to crawl through, but to most people it's just plain confusing.

Our own Ottawa comes out on occasion with a fair-to-muddling effort. The following, with a bit of careful parsing and a good chess player's ability to concentrate, does eventually come out all right:

"In this schedule, a reference to goods to which consumer goods are affixed or of which consumer goods form part of the equipment or accessories at the time of delivery of the goods to the buyer, includes those consumer goods."

That's perfectly clear, retorts the bureaucrat. Certainly it is, but is there a law against calling a spade a spade? Or must we becloud the issue by referring to it as a flat-bladed metallic tool specifically designed to dig, delve, grub, excavate, exhumé or disinter, not to be confused with round-bladed shovels, trowels (short-handled) or similar tools which are also used for digging, delving, grubbing, excavating, delving or disinterring? —"Industry".

Estimated growth in Canada's population in the year ending Sept. 1, 1950, was 285,000

Principles of Weed Control

The remarkable advance in weed warfare that has accompanied the introduction, wide farmer acceptance, and effective use of 2,4-D has not changed the basic principles of weed control. The successful control of a weed still requires a knowledge of its habits, its growth requirements, and more particularly of how it reproduces and spreads.

Weed species fall into two main groups—annuals and perennials.

Annuals—Annual weeds, such as Wild Mustard and Stinkweed, live but one year, produce a crop of seed, and then die. Annuals reproduce by seeds only. Obviously, all methods of controlling annuals have one principal purpose—the prevention of seeding. This may be attained in many different ways—mowing, burning, cultivating, or through the use of chemicals. The easiest way to dispose of annual weeds is to kill them in their early growth stages. 2,4-D is a most efficient tool for this purpose.

Perennials—The most difficult weeds to control are perennials. They live for three or more years and spread not only by seed but also by underground roots or stems (rootstocks). Consequently, the successful control of perennials by 2,4-D, or other herbicides, requires deep penetration of chemicals into the root systems, a requirement which makes them more difficult to kill with chemicals than annuals.

In combating perennial weeds three problems are involved: (1) To prevent seed formation. (2) To kill all seedlings developing from seed already present in the soil. (3) To eradicate existing stands of old established plants. Thus the successful control of most perennial weeds requires a combination of special tillage and cropping methods, supplemented by the use of clean seed and the timely use of 2,4-D, or other weed-killing chemicals.

In these difficult times Western Canada must keep its agricultural production program in high gear. It is therefore essential that every prairie farmer wage a full-scale war on weeds in 1951.

MOTOR CAR THEFTS CREATE NEW PROBLEM

Action to curb the prevalence of motor car thefts is receiving the attention of motor clubs in many parts of Canada. It appears that during the past six months, such thefts have shown an alarming increase, due in most cases to the operations of juvenile gangs or cliques.

These car thieves appear for the most part to enjoy the thrill of boasting to companions of their exploits. Now the practice has reached such a serious stage that more rigorous action on the part of the authorities and stiffer penalties for such juvenile crimes are being demanded.

One police officer has suggested that the lash would have a more correcting influence than the effect of a possible one year in jail.

In one Alberta city, 735 cars were stolen during the past year. All but a few of these were recovered and few were damaged. Nevertheless, this is an indication of the widening scope of the problem, particularly as the number of thefts were double those of the year before.

Motor clubs have on occasion offered rewards for information leading to the conviction of motor car thieves. This brought good results and possibly the idea should be revived on a more substantial scale.

It is apparent that action is required without delay to check a practice that is becoming far too prevalent and must be stamped out, says the Alberta Motor Association.

THE ADVOCATE

Curling is a Simple Game!

The following taken from The Balcanes Free Lance will be of special interest to many who have wondered for many years what is in this game of curling that takes one from warm home fires in the coldest days of winter, and persuades them to go to great expense and effort to attend bonspiels all over the country.

"For the benefit of our citizens, men who have not learned about this grand old game, we have been asked to give an outline of how the game is played. To get an accurate story we interviewed one of our leading curlers, and secured the following:

The curling game itself is the essence of simplicity, consisting of four players on a s.d.e, each throwing chunks of tombstone with handles, at a target down on the ice.

The skip is the egg who stands at the target end and informs all the players on his side how rotten they are. After all the other players are through the two skips proceed to the shooting end, and after they have flung their rocks, one of them swells out his chest and the other glances around at the ice-maker and gives him a dirty look.

After the end is played, the side making the fewest mistakes scores as many shots as they have shots lying closer to the target than the closest enemy shot.

In case of a close finish, some impartial fellow is called on to measure the distance of the opposing rocks, and then gives the shot to whichever skip he likes best. All ties are in favor of the rink which can holler the loudest. This is the reason why curling is called the roaring game.

The one feature which distinguishes curling from all other sports is the use of brooms. The players carry these household utensils and if the rock doesn't appear to have sufficient pep behind it, they sweep ahead of the rock to make it run faster.

There are few prettier sights in sports than to see men who, if asked to put a shovel of coal in the furnace would yell blue murder, putting enough jazz and energy into his broom exercise to sweep all the carpets between here and Turkey.

The best players do not throw rocks at the target, but stand behind a glass where it is nice and warm, and make intelligent comments such as "Oh, its narrow," "it's wide," "he didn't hit the broom," "rotten shot", and so forth.

If it wasn't for curling, many citizens wouldn't have an excuse for going out every night, leaving friend, wife alone to "keep the home fires burning".

With The District Agriculturist Hugh Michael

Make Provision for Good Seed Now

Clean seed, pure as to variety and having a satisfactory germination is scarce. Anyone desiring seed for this year's crop should not delay in making the necessary arrangements. It is the duty of this office to encourage dissemination, and use of good seed. In this district there will probably be enough good seed available locally to take care of the needs, with exceptions of oats, and other varieties of barley. Therefore it would be appreciated if anyone who has seed available would let us know. We often have enquiries about where seed may be obtained, but often do not have sufficient listings to meet the demand. No charge is made for this service.

Pure seed must be handled carefully to avoid mixing with other varieties and grain. All seed cleaning should be done on the home farm if at all possible. When seed is cleaned away from home by any ordinary commercial cleaner without the proper type of bins, some mixing is sure to take place, no matter how conscientious the operator may be. There is all together too much grain cleaned away from home farms in this area. An ordinary fanning mill is not expensive to buy and will certainly pay dividends. Trucking grain away to be cleaned may be convenient, and save time, but a good farmer cannot afford this convenience.

Wireworms can be Controlled
Last spring, wireworm caused thinning of too many stands of grain in Southern Alberta. This pest can now be controlled by seed treatment with a chemical known as benzene hexachloride or BHC This is not a new chemical to the Entomologists, as they have been experimenting with it for over seven years, and are now in a position to make positive recommendations.

B.H.C. treatments for seed are strongly recommended for use with wheat planted in summer-fallow heavily infested with wireworms, and with the first crop of grain on fields that have been in grass for several years.

The application of one ounce of gamma B.H.C. per acre is recommended for cereals. Instructions on the container should be carefully followed.

One application will control the wireworms for a period of at least five years.

If you were troubled with wireworms last year, ask your local hardware dealer about B.H.C. I am sure he will be pleased to give you further details as to price etc.

Canada's western mountain system is 400 miles wide and covers 530,000 square miles.

Grain Screenings As a Livestock Feed

Refuse grain screenings have been used as a feed for livestock in a few areas for many years. In recent years many tons of this feed have been fed in the feedlots of Southern Alberta. Because this feed is relatively cheap as compared to grain on a ton basis, many livestock feeders who have not fed screenings have been seeking for information on its feeding value and its suitability as a feed.

Refuse grain screenings are a combination of materials obtained in the process of cleaning grain and consist of light and broken grain seeds, weed seeds, hulls, chaff, joints, straw, elevator dust, and floor sweepings. Because grains from different farms and areas vary considerably in the amount and kinds of weed seeds, broken grain chaff, etc., so the screenings from these grains also vary. Some lots of screenings consist mainly of broken and shriveled grain kernels, while other lots consist mainly of chaff and weed seeds. Because of this variability no single value can be placed upon screenings as a feed.

Experiments have shown that screenings that consist mainly of broken and shriveled kernels resemble oats in composition and may nearly equal grain in feeding value. Poor quality screenings that consist mainly of chaff and weed seeds more nearly resemble straw in composition and are very little better than straw as a feed. Some screenings, due to certain weed seeds and the grain that they contain, are very palatable and stock will often eat them in preference to grain while other screenings are quite unpalatable and it is difficult to get stock to eat them without mixing them with other feeds.

Usually, there are no harmful effects to the stock from feeding screenings. However, occasionally, due to the presence of some toxic weed seeds or the feeding of excessive amounts of screenings containing certain weeds, a number of animals have died. It is not feasible to have each lot of screenings analysed for toxic weeds and other harmful ingredients and therefore the feeder who feeds screenings must take this risk. In general, it is not advisable to feed screenings as the sole grain ration to any type of livestock, and especially to calves. Screenings that contain a considerable amount of chaff and hulls should not be fed to pigs as they cannot digest fibrous feeds.

It must be emphasized that screenings are a means of spreading many troublesome weeds. Every precaution should be taken in hauling and feeding screenings to prevent the spreading of weed seeds on roadsides and on the farm. Weed seeds that are spilled along the road, and in the bedding which is later carried to the field, result in increased population of troublesome weeds and the introduction of new weeds.

Many untimely deaths from heart disease can now be prevented by giving doctors an early opportunity to use methods of diagnosis and care which are constantly being improved through study and research.

WESTERN CANADA PRECIPITATION MAP

SHOWING PRECIPITATION FROM AUGUST 1ST TO NOVEMBER 15TH, 1950
AS COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE OF 10 YEARS OR MORE

This map shows the distribution of fall rainfall, that is rains which fell over the prairies from Aug. 1st to Nov. 15th, 1950, or between harvest and freeze-up. These rains form an important part of the reserve moisture for the use of crops which are to be seeded this coming spring. It will be observed that the distribution of the moisture is fairly even throughout the West. The figures reveal that the crops to be seeded on stubble and summerfallow land combined throughout the three prairie provinces, and weighted for wheat acreage, will have reserve moisture of 90 per cent of normal, compared with 72 per cent of normal last year; Alberta 88 per cent of normal, Saskatchewan 89 per cent and Manitoba 109 per cent. This all means that the 1951 prairie crops will have a good start as far as reserve moisture is concerned.

THE SETTS OF THE SCOTTISH TARTANS

A single glance in the large stores in New York, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto reveals that an extraordinary interest is now being taken in Scottish tartans in scarves, coats, skirts, stockings, socks and so forth. A remarkable book has just been published, beautifully illustrated in full colors, which shows the correct colors, threads, and width of stripes, both warp and weft, for 261 different tartans of the Scottish clans. The book is entitled "The Setts of the Scottish Tartans" by Donald Calder Stewart of Edinburgh, published in Canada by Clarke-Irwin, Toronto. The book represents years of wide research by the author, and is the first serious attempt ever made to establish a canon for the correct weaving of the authentic tartans of the many different Scottish Clans.

In Western Canada alone there are some 2,000 weavers who, with the aid of this book, can easily weave these much sought after genuine tartan materials.

Those, too, who are proud of their Scottish ancestry—and what Scottish person is not—will find in this book a beautiful strip in full colors of the authentic tartans of their individual clans.

Her Majesty the Queen has graciously consented to have included in this book the lovely sett in full colors of the Royal Balmoral Tartan which has never hitherto been published.
